

With you

Anaïs, I'm thinking of you and your whole family. There is no need to reply; please know I'm here today and in the weeks ahead.

— Inès

I'll remember Claire at the garden table, serving strong coffee and making every guest feel expected. That warmth will stay with us.

— Rafael

I can bring dinner on Wednesday or do the shopping this week. Choose only what would help, now or later.

— Nora

We'll remember the plants shared over the gate and the chats on the doorstep. We are holding you all in our thoughts.

— The neighbors

We're thinking of you. We've covered the urgent work, so please don't worry about anything here. We'll move at your pace.

— The team

Claire listened without interrupting, then asked the question that put everything in perspective. I feel lucky to have known her.
